

Travel restrictions - Our solutions

Global Support

GLOBAL SUPPORT

As a result of further spread of Covid-19, travel restrictions are increasing drastically globally, considerably restricting companies' ability to act and perform.

In order to ensure that they remain capable of performing during these difficult times to secure their new projects as well as ongoing production, we are well prepared to assist them via our expertise and global network support.

Even under current and ever-changing conditions, we are willing and able to travel and perform, while respecting all legal aspects and regulations which apply.

Below, we are pleased to show you a list of our core competencies and capabilities which are available to you and your operations internationally at a short notice and offer you professional solutions, if necessary also with long-standing local partners.
